

Concert for a good cause

Saturday night's concert with Michael Feinstein and Linda Eder at the Atlantic City Hilton will not only entertain a large crowd, but also serve as the inaugural benefit for the Schultz-Hill Foundation, which helps promote and support the arts, history and education in southern New Jersey.

Founded by Atlantic City councilman John Schultz and his business partner Gary Hill, the foundation will feature events like the Feinstein-Eder concert in the near future.

"This is the first event for our foundation, and we are very excited about its success," says Schultz. "We look forward to the community embracing our cause and promise a very special evening to everyone who attends."

Feinstein and Eder will provide an evening with two powerhouse performances featuring showtunes and masterpieces from the American songbook. The concert begins at 8 p.m., but the $200 benefit ticket entitles patrons to a pre-event champagne toast at 7 p.m., priority concert seating, followed by a private reception hosted by Feinstein and Eder featuring gourmet desserts, cheeses, international coffees, photo opportunities, event gifts and an open bar.
